DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 2, 4, 5, 7, 9, and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Patton (US 5,351,634).

Regarding claim 1, Patton discloses an agricultural implement for being pulled by a powered vehicle (seen in Figs. 5-8), comprising:

- a tow bar assembly (seen as rods 90, 92) connected to said powered vehicle;
- a working assembly (seen as machine 20) having a front gang of coulters (seen as forward coulters 24) and a rear gang of coulters (seen as rear set of coulters 26), and
- a pivoting assembly (seen as turnbuckle 96) connecting said tow bar assembly and said working assembly, said pivoting assembly being operable to transfer weight of said working assembly between said front gang of coulters and said rear gang of coulters (see Col 3, lines 49-64).

Regarding claim 2, Patton discloses that the raising and lowering device can operate by hydraulic action (Col 3, lines 49-56).

Regarding claim 4, the front gang of coulters and rear gang of coulters (24, 26) comprise blades as seen in the figures.

Regarding claim 5, the front gang of coulters and the rear gang of coulters (24, 26) are substantially parallel to each other, as seen in the figures.

Regarding claim 7, Patton discloses the limitations of the claimed invention as discussed with respect to claims 1 and 2 above. Furthermore, Patton discloses a frame seen in Fig. 2, and the said working assembly inherent has weight. When the cylinder of Patton is extended, more of the weight of said working assembly is supported by said rear gang of coulters (as shown in Fig. 7), and when said hydraulic cylinder is retracted, more of the weight of said working assembly is supported by said front gang of coulters (as shown in Fig. 8).

Regarding claim 9, Patton discloses the limitations of the claimed invention as discussed with respect to claims 1 and 2 above. Furthermore, Patton discloses a frame seen in Fig. 2, and the said working assembly inherent has weight. The frame has a level orientation when it is level relative to said tow bar assembly. When the frame is inclined upward in front relative to said level orientation, more of the weight of said working assembly is supported by said rear gang of coulters (as shown in Fig. 7), and when the frame is inclined downward in front relative to said level orientation, more of the weight of said working assembly is supported by the front gang of coulters (as shown in Fig. 8).

Regarding claim 10, the front gang of coulters and the rear gang of coulters (24, 26) are substantially parallel to each other, as seen in the figures.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Patton (US 5,351,634) as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Javerlhac (US 6,499,543). Patton fails to disclose the rear gang blades as positioned midway between the front gang blades. Javerlhac teaches that it is preferable to space apart the disks of various gangs so that any one disk continues to work between the tracks of the two disks of the preceding gang of disks, promoting a well-cultivated state (Col 2, lines 49-60). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the arrangement of the front and rear gang blades of Patton so that the rear gang blades are positioned midway between the front gang blades as taught by Javerlhac, since Javerlhac states how this promotes a well-cultivated state (Col 2, lines 49-60).

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 3 and 8 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
